Graphics-Related Company is a creative studio in Bangkok that knows how to position clients with brand strategy, brand identity, strong design initiative, corporate communications and high-impact visual experiences.

Founded in 1997 by Pansak Chintanapakdee, a design artist who thinks outside the box, unimpeded by boundaries, our multi-disciplined team seamlessly blends eclectic concepts through high tech tools.

A brand that works is a brand that gets noticed. It happens when the design inspires the intellect and emotions of customers. The strategic aesthetics gets the attention of more clients. Our quest culminates in snappy designs that generate a fresh perk to your products attracting more business to your business.

A fashion advertisement for Jaspal. The image features a woman with long, wavy brown hair and bangs, wearing a white trench coat and silver high-heeled boots. She is sitting on a large, metallic wheel, possibly a Ferris wheel, against a white background. The brand name "JASPAL" is written in large, bold, black capital letters across the bottom right of the image.

A black and white photograph of a man and a woman in a romantic embrace. The woman is wearing a light-colored, lace-trimmed dress and has her arms raised. The man is shirtless and holding her from behind. A large, dark, pleated skirt or fabric piece is draped around them, creating a dramatic, swirling effect. The background is plain white. The brand name 'JASPAL' is printed in large, bold, sans-serif capital letters across the middle of the image. Below it, the text 'SPRING/SUMMER 2003' is printed in smaller, bold, sans-serif capital letters.

Human-Computer Interaction

A computer only understands commands that it can read. It needs to be able to read what you say or what you type. It needs to be able to understand what you mean. It needs to be able to respond to you in a way that you can understand.

Human-Computer Interaction is the study of how people interact with computers. It is a multidisciplinary field that involves psychology, sociology, and computer science.

Human-Computer Interaction is a very important field. It is the foundation of all computer-based systems. Without it, computers would be useless.

Human-Computer Interaction is a very exciting field. It is constantly evolving and there is always something new to learn.

Human-Computer Interaction is a very challenging field. It requires a lot of hard work and dedication.

Human-Computer Interaction is a very rewarding field. It allows you to make a difference in the world.

IS A WAY OF LIFE

Perkins, he says, is not just a "new" way of doing things. It's a new way of thinking. "The difference between the old and the new is that the old was a way of doing things, and the new is a way of thinking," he says. "The old was a way of doing things, and the new is a way of thinking."
